We hope you will join us at R.D. Bailey Lake to show your support for our water festival and see for yourself how students learn the importance of water quality and what they can do to make a difference in their own part of the watershed. It is sure to be a fantastic day for all who participate!

Fifth grade students in Wyoming County will be invited to participate in a curriculum based, hands-on, fun day full of water themed activities. These activities will be conducted by water professionals from federal and state natural resource agencies. They will be teaching students about water's importance, its uses, and how to protect this precious resource. There will also be volunteers from local watershed organizations and community groups. This year we are excited to be including students from Concord University as part of our volunteers.

The goal of water festivals is to offer students enriching and innovative ways to learn about water quality. It also allows the students the opportunity to meet the water professionals in their area, and perhaps encourage them to develop a career in the environmental field.

This year the water festival is supported by the West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection, West Virginia Conservation Agency, US Army Corp of Engineers, National Park Service, Upper Guyandotte Watershed Association, Raleigh County Solid Waste Authority, Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Council, Southern Conservation District, Project WET, R.D. Bailey Lake and Concord University.

Thank you in advance for your support, and we look forward to seeing you on September 20th at R. D. Bailey Lake. Please RSVP to the contact below.

Sincerely,
