notes about datum conversions

Datum conversions between all realizations of NAD27, NAD83, and WGS84 are not practical, or sometimes not strictly possible. Many of the issues are associated with the inability to convert between the original realization of NAD83 and more recent realizations. While error could be reduced by introducing an intermediate HARN conversion, separate transformations would have to be implemented for each state, which significantly increases the complexity of the application. Therefore datum conversions include a few built-in assumptions:

1. Conversions between NAD27 and NAD83. This converts between NAD27 and NAD83 (1986) using the NADCON transformation. Newer realizations of NAD83, such as NAD83 (CORS96) and NAD83(2011) can differ from NAD83(1986) by a meter or so. This conversion uses the Esri transformation NAD 1927 To NAD 1983 NADCON.
